

Camp HONOR 2020 Parent Manual

A Program Of:

Thank you for entrusting us with your children. We take this responsibility very seriously and take every precaution to ensure their safety and well-being. We are excited about this week! We have great adventures, new friendships, and many fun activities in store for your child!

Camp HONOR is made possible by generous donations from individuals and corporations. All of the funding for the camp comes from donations. Thanks to those who have supported us and made this week a reality!

The Camp HONOR Program

H.O.N.O.R. is an acronym that stands for Hemophiliacs Overcoming New Obstacles Resourcefully. Therefore, our camp is designed to allow children with medical needs the opportunity to experience the camp activities such as canoeing, camping, sports, team building games, arts and crafts, swimming, in a loving environment that can meet the special needs of each child.

Established in 1994, Camp HONOR is open to children ages 8-17 from the inherited bleeding disorder community. This includes those who have hemophilia and von Willebrand disease. We also partner with the Bill Holt clinic to better help serve the HIV portion of our community. We believe that a bleeding disorder affects the entire family. Therefore, also included are children of parents with bleeding disorders and brothers and sisters. Siblings become an important part of the caring community when they share the common experience of Camp HONOR.

In some way, every child at camp is affected by a bleeding disorder or HIV at some point in their life. Our goal is to create a supportive environment at camp that becomes a perfect conduit for healthy living and wellness. At Camp HONOR we promote personal independence and foster community spirit.

There are over 100 standards with which we comply. These standards cover everything from safety practices to administrative policies, from cabin bunk arrangements to program quality.

Mission

The mission of Camp HONOR is to enrich the lives of children affected by an inherited bleeding disorder by providing life-changing camp experiences that are exciting, empowering, and educational, in a physically safe and medically sound environment.

Vision

At Camp HONOR our vision is that our campers will embrace our camp values and one day take personal responsibility for their own lives and become strong advocates for their own care.

Values

Honesty, Respect, Responsibility, Community, Independence

Summer Camp Goals

Through a camper-centered program that focuses on the premise of keeping campers and staff safe, respected, and loved, we intend to empower our staff and campers to achieve these goals.

At Camp HONOR we strive to:

1. Develop medical independence.
2. Teach life skills.
3. Enhance self-worth and self-confidence.
4. Foster memorable friendships.
5. Create a community of peers facing similar situations.
6. Provide mentoring and leadership opportunities.
7. Empower campers to gain acceptance of their medical condition.
8. Educate campers to become self-advocates for medical care.
9. To provide the highest quality of medical care that is non-intrusive to camp life.

Philosophy

You may often hear us refer to Camp HONOR as a “legacy camp”. This means once you are a part of the Camp HONOR family, you are always a part of the Camp HONOR family and we want you to come back year after year. If it were not for Camp HONOR, most children with hemophilia in Arizona would not know another child with hemophilia or HIV. We believe that a chronic condition affects the entire family. We invite siblings to attend as well. Camp also provides a great opportunity for siblings and other children from our unique community to learn more about inherited bleeding disorders and how to help. Our philosophy is to provide our campers with a normal camping experience by providing them with traditional camping activities in a safe environment.

Camp HONOR Leadership

Camp HONOR is planned and organized by the Camp Committee comprised of volunteers and staff from the Arizona Bleeding Disorders. Many have several years of experience working at Camp HONOR and have a strong commitment to ensuring your child has a memorial experience! Many hours of work go into making Camp HONOR a fun and safe environment for everyone. Below is information on the leadership team.

Partnership with You

At Camp HONOR we work in partnership with you, the parent. Our goal is to optimize your child’s experience at camp. We believe that to set the camper up for the greatest success, we need your help in preparing your child for camp. It is important for you to let us know if there are any specific concerns or issues we show know about before your child arrives at camp. We need you to talk with your child about the contents of this manual and to get them excited about camp. We ask that you support the requirements set forth in this manual. Please do not allow your child to bring electronic devices, particularly cell phones. You are entrusting us with your child and giving your child a cell phone creates a perception of mistrust in our camp leadership and staff. We take our responsibility very seriously and you can rest assured that all of the campers are in good hands.

The campers will learn independence and self-infusion at camp. We ask that you support our efforts and reaffirm this independence at home. Most of the campers are excited and proud of their accomplishments. Ask your child about what they learned at camp and have them show you how they self-infuse. Encourage them to continue their efforts at home. Not every child will be independently self-infusing, but each year they come to camp, they come closer in managing their own care. Please continue to encourage and promote this independence. This is critical for success in managing their chronic condition over their lifetime.

Missing Home

The American Camp Association (ACA) suggests the following tips for parents to help their child deal with homesickness at camp:

1. Encourage your child's independence throughout the year. Practice separations, such as sleepovers at a friend's house, can simulate the camp environment.
2. Involve your child in the process of deciding to go to camp. The more that the child owns the decision, the more comfortable the child will feel being at camp.
3. Discuss what camp will be like before your child leaves. Consider role-playing anticipated situations, such as using a flashlight to find the bathroom.
4. Prepare your child ahead of time that there will be no phone calls to set the expectations.
5. Send a note or care package ahead of time to arrive the first day of camp. Acknowledge, in a positive way, that you will miss your child. For example, you can say "I am going to miss you, but I know that you will have a good time at camp."
6. Don't bribe. Linking a successful stay at camp to a material object sends the wrong message. The reward should be your child's new-found confidence and independence.
7. Pack a personal item from home, such as a stuffed animal.
8. Talk candidly with your child before camp that he/she may miss home, that this is normal, and that they should let their counselor know if they are having difficulties.
9. Don't feel guilty about encouraging your child to stay at camp. For many children, camp is a first step toward independence and plays an important role in their growth and development.
10. While most incidents of homesickness will pass in a day or two, approximately seven percent of the cases are severe. If your child is not eating or sleeping because of anxiety or depression, it is time to go home. Camp staff in collaboration with you will determine if your child needs to come home. Don't make your child feel like a failure if their stay at camp is cut short. Focus on the positive and encourage your child to try camp again next year.

Camp HONOR Staff

The staff at Camp HONOR is comprised of individuals who have a love for kids and a dedication to our Camp! We are staffed by volunteer counselors, activity leaders, and medical staff. The medical staff includes volunteer physicians and nurses from the Hemophilia Treatment Centers in Phoenix and Tucson as well as the Bill Holt Clinic at Phoenix Children's Hospital. Camp HONOR staff members are specially trained in the areas of camp counseling, child development, hemophilia, vWD, HIV, Hepatitis, universal precautions, and confidentiality.

Camp staff members are screened, interviewed and complete a full background check before they attend an orientation training designed to guarantee a fulfilling and safe experience for your camper.

Some of the staff have a bleeding disorder and act as role models of living with a bleeding disorder and giving back. All are volunteers who give of their time and talents to make this week memorable for your child. Approximately 85% of each year's staff are return staff members. Cabins have counselors and one L.I.T. (leader in training).

The Leader-In-Training (LIT) Program

There is a LIT program for campers who are age 16 and over. The goal of the program is to train LIT's in leadership skills, counseling techniques, outdoor skills, and to prepare them to work in a cabin with younger campers. Combining the fun of summer camp with the responsibilities of being a counselor is the best of both worlds. LIT's receive training from a professional facilitator who will teach them teamwork, healthy communication, and problem-solving skills.

The Camp Facility

The Arizona Bleeding Disorders has rented Prescott Pines Camp near Prescott, AZ to hold its summer session of Camp HONOR 2020. The facility is well-equipped with activities such as the typical swimming, arts and crafts, sports, archery, and a ropes course. However, it is also filled with a lot of unique and exciting things for us to do such a climbing tower, zip-line, and canoeing. With so much to do, it is sure to be a great year at Camp HONOR.

Camper Cabin Assignments

Grouped together by age and school grade, campers are assigned to boys or girls' cabins where their camp counselors guide them through the routine and non-routine way of camp life. As a general rule, siblings are not assigned to the same cabins. We create ample opportunities throughout the day for campers to foster friendships with other campers in the other cabins. The ratio of staff to campers in each cabin is 1:4.

Theme of the Week

The theme this year is Olympics. The theme will be represented with light-hearted elements such as Olympic games, country representation. Please feel free to send your child to camp with items that will help enforce the theme, though it's not necessary.

As always though, we are sticking with the Camp HONOR fundamentals. Since summer camp is an ideal place to teach children about living together as a community, we work to incorporate positive messages and experiences that help them to grow and develop.

Camp Routine/Typical Day

Cabins follow a daily schedule designed specifically for their age group. The morning begins with breakfast, followed by cabin cleanup and then it's off to your morning sessions. A typical morning might begin with archery, followed by swimming, followed by arts and crafts. After lunch and singing, there is rest hour followed by afternoon sessions. The afternoon may consist of canoeing followed by sports and the ropes course.

The evenings are all-camp programs like a carnival, game, or scavenger hunt. In the middle of the week, the camp in designated age-appropriate groups will all sleep out under the stars on an overnight. Below is a typical schedule, keep in mind, the schedule may change and look different when you get to camp.

Camper Behavior and Participation

There are three Camp Rules for all campers to follow:

- 1) No Physical Violence – Hugs and High Fives are the way to go.
- 2) No Killer Statements – Hurtful words can ruin a camp experience, so we always use Builder Statements.
- 3) No Unsupervised Activities – Camp is always more fun when we are together.

Campers are expected to act in accordance to the Camp HONOR's mission and in compliance to the five core Camp HONOR values: Honesty, Respect, Responsibility, Community, and Independence.

We strive to create a caring community that fosters friendships, respect, and acceptance of the differences all of us have. Camp HONOR will not accept campers who are unable or unwilling to abide by the camp rules. If behavior problems arise at camp, parents will be contacted. Parents must be available to pick up their child from camp with-in 6 hours of be notified, should the decision to leave be made by the camp administrative staff.

Please make sure you have read and completed the Camper Code of Honor form that is attached to this manual. That form needs to be turned in prior to camp. It is important to go over this with your child to make sure he/she understands the rules of camp and understands that we have the right to send a camper home.

Non-Discrimination Policy

Camp HONOR is an equal opportunity program and prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, handicap, and any other basis prohibited by law.

Our commitment to establish a summer camp free from discrimination and harassment is one that must be shared by all who attend.

Non-Denominational Policy

Camp HONOR is a non-denominational camp and staff members are asked to refrain from sharing their personal religious beliefs with campers.

Meals

Nutritious meals are provided three times a day with healthy snacks also available during the day. Special dietary requests are also honored. Please notify Camp HONOR of special dietary needs on your child's application form. We need to inform the camp staff 2 weeks prior to the start of camp with any special food needs.

Wellness Center

Camp HONOR maintains a 24-hour, modern Wellness Center, staffed by physicians and nurses from the Phoenix and Tucson Hemophilia Treatment Centers and Phoenix Children's Hospital. The Wellness Center is stocked with standard first aid and medical supplies (Tylenol, Advil, Throat Lozenges, Band-Aids, etc.). You DO NOT need to send those types of medical supplies with your child to camp. If you are unsure of whether certain medications will be available, call the Phoenix Children's Hospital's Hemophilia Treatment Center at 602-933-0920 or The Arizona Hemophilia and Thrombosis Center in Tucson at 520-626-7556. Parents will be contacted in the case of a medical emergency by a Wellness Center staff member.

Ensuring your child has a positive experience is our utmost concern. At the conclusion of camp, we will be sending a survey to you for you and your child to complete regarding their camp experience. Please take the time to complete this survey so that we know what went well and what areas may need improvement. Only by receiving your feedback, both positive and constructive, can we continue to improve Camp HONOR.

Complaints or Grievances

Campers— At camp, there is a designated camper advocate as well as social workers that campers can go to if they have a problem that they feel is going unresolved. We strive to make every camper comfortable and make every experience enjoyable. If for any reason, a camper has a problem with a counselor, an activity, another camper, or an uncomfortable situation, they can turn to their camper advocate or social workers for immediate assistance. Please inform your child that these resources are available. We let campers know that these people are available and make sure each camper knows they can go directly to their counselor, camper advocate or a social worker.
